COVID -19 UPDATE

Dear Customer

Apollo Cradles will continue to follow all advice and updates issued by our Government regarding COVID-19.

Our Senior Management team are ensuring they remain up to date with what is an ever-changing situation. The announcement by Michael Gove this morning (24 March 2020) in relation to the Construction Industry means that we can continue to operate as normal. In doing so, we are introducing additional measures that safe guard both our employees and customers.

We remain committed to giving the projects that we are involved with the service required until informed otherwise or we are unable to do so.

Apollo Cradles have now introduced the following policies and restrictions to safe guard everyone:

1. Apollo employees are free to choose whether or they come to work; we have no intention of forcing anyone to do anything that is against their will.
2. Only essential visitors shall be permitted to enter our depots.
3. We have strict rules in place to ensure that visitors are safeguarded.
4. If you are visiting one of our depots then we expect you to adhere to our safeguarding measures.
5. All visitors will be asked to maintain a non-contact / safe distance policy and use the hand gels provided.

Our site teams have been instructed to follow government instructions relating to their interaction with others by ensuring they adopt safe distancing and no contact. In addition, we are also ensuring that company vehicles are kept clean and our teams have been provided with cleaning equipment for this task.

Hire of equipment

Several customers have made enquiries about the on-going hire of the equipment that remains onsite should the Government enforce a nationwide lockdown. Equipment needs to be kept on hire for insurance purposes. You may be assured that we shall review matters once normal operations can be resumed.

Please remember that it is the responsibility of a site to ensure that all equipment has adequate insurance and when it is not in use it is properly isolated and secure.

As we are sure that you will agree these are unprecedented times. Apollo Cradles remain committed to all our customers and suppliers. Our Managers shall be available throughout this situation to discuss any concerns you may have.

Yours sincerely

Keven Herbert
